

SECRETARY LAMAR STIRRED.

Ex-Senator Van Wyck Writes Him a Letter About the St. Joe & Western.

LEOPARDS CANNOT CHANGE.

But Railroads Change Their Names, and They Still Continue to Cling to Uncertain Lands—Washington News.

Van Wyck's Last Letter.
WASHINGTON, June 24.—(Special Telegram to the BEE.)—The following letter has been sent to the secretary of the interior by ex-Senator Van Wyck:

To the Honorable, the Secretary of the Interior: Many years ago the general land office and department of the interior from quantity gave away the public domain at the polite request of railroad corporations, whether sustained by the action of congress or not. I am sure that the interior department St. Joseph & Western, formerly the Denver & St. Joseph, like convicts assuming an alias under a new name and carrying on the Denver & St. Joseph asked and received patents for 12,000 acres on the pretense that they would build a railroad between Kansas and Nebraska. The patents were actually given for the land, and never up to this day has a shovel full of earth been thrown on the ground. The above facts fully appear in the records of your office and without dispute. It is strange that this wrong should be done in the first instance and then continue these many years without effort to regain the land. The company of course sold these ill-gotten lands and they are now in the hands of innocent purchasers who, under the circumstances, should not be disturbed. The question is, has the government a remedy against the railroad company? With due respect I submit they have. The company had the right to build a railroad, but they had no right to take the land. The government should follow the railroad in whose hands it temporarily may be. This road from St. Joseph to Lincoln is still in existence, and by its present management, it is to-day as much a land grant road as at its creation, and its obligation to the government should be discharged because it has passed into other hands. If any lands were now due that road, the present management would be required to receive them. The lands could be discharged in that way, the Union Pacific and Central Pacific would be tricked into other hands, so the road under its present management must be responsible for this not only local, but equitable claim. This state of facts will help to explain the position suggested, how far the present secretary is precluded by the action of former administrations. It has been alleged in some quarters that the property of the government is to be reform and entirely reverse the action of too many predecessors in the extravagant and criminal manner of giving away public lands to railroad companies. In this connection, and bearing on this point, and as a supplement to the letter above, I have a few days ago asking that you compel the B. & M. railroad in Nebraska to disgorge about 300,000 acres it has taken in defiance of the supreme court decision. The B. & M. said B. & M. have actually received patents for nearly 4,000 acres in excess of this illegal taking on the northern line. The B. & M. in excess of every acre giving them the full compliance they claim, and this fact also appears in the records of your office. I am, I say, on the subject of the B. & M. railroad, this company has patents for about 3,000,000 acres which they should be compelled to restore to the government. I have the hope that you will be able to reclaim from the St. Joseph & Western, now known as the St. Joseph & Lincoln, the land on which patents were never issued without any pretense of right, I am, etc.

(Signed) C. H. VAN WYCK.
